

TITLE OF THE PAPER

(Garamond, Bold, Size – 16 and centrally aligned)

*-Author's name

ABSTRACT

(Garamond, Bold, Size-14 and centrally aligned)

The English-American political theorist and philosopher, Thomas Paine, in his seminal work, The Rights of Man had, with great insight noted: “A Constitution is the property of a Nation, and not of those who exercise the Government. (within 500 words, Garamond, Italics, Size-12)

Keywords: (Five keywords in alphabetical order.)

I. INTRODUCTION

(Garamond, Bold, Size-14 and centrally aligned)

While a Constitution lays down a sound scheme for an effective, yet a limited government, it, at the same time enumerates certain ideals, which it expects the citizens to pursue, in order to achieve the common good. (Garamond, Size-12 and justified).

The SC in the case of Union of India v. M. Selvakumar held that:

“It is not in the domain of the courts to embark upon an inquiry as to whether a particular public policy is wise and acceptable or whether better policy could be evolved. The Court can only interfere if the policy framed is absolutely capricious and non-informed by reasons, or totally arbitrary, offending the basic requirement of the Article 14 of the Constitution.”

(A) SUB-HEADING (Garamond, Size-14)

CONCLUSION

(Garamond, Bold, Size-14 and centrally aligned)

* Educational qualifications and the institutional details of the author. (Footnotes should be in Garamond, Size 10, with line spacing 1, and justified).